

Spring 2019 Documentary Photography Opportunity

Develop your documentary skills grow your professional portfolio
and support NC artists!

Info Session and Talk

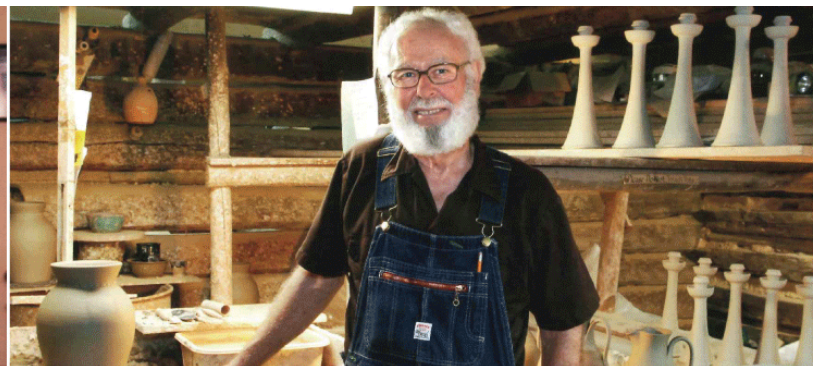

The Folklife Program at the North Carolina Arts Council and Duke Arts are seeking Documentary Fellows for a collaborative portraiture opportunity with young traditional artists in our region.

Join Barry Bergey (former Director of Folk and Traditional Arts, National Endowment for the Arts) and Tom Pich (photographer), for a discussion of Folk Masters: A Portrait of America - a collection of documentary portraits of traditional artists from across the country.

Following the talk, learn about the Documentary Fellow opportunity and hear more about the Arts Council's Millennial Traditional Artists Project.

This is an unpaid volunteer opportunity open to all students and professional volunteers Feb - May 2019. Photographers will be reimbursed for travel to photo shoots with artists.

Wednesday, Feb 6, 2019 | 6 PM

The Rubenstein Arts Center
Ruby Lounge
No RSVP required